papers presented at this conference covered the topics of the role of women in engineering training technicians management and continuing education mid career training and higher degrees approaches to specialized genres provides a timely update of the field of genre studies with 14 cutting edge contributions split into five sections using and integrating an exceptionally wide variety of methods and perspectives such as esp genre research corpus linguistics systemic functional linguistics ethnographic and multimodal research to analyse genres in written spoken visual and auditory modes across a multiplicity of pedagogic professional and digital settings it highlights and illustrates the growing trend of a multiperspective and inter theoretic approach to genre studies and demonstrates how such methodological rigour can extend our knowledge of language in general and genres in particular it also examines a rich variety of underexplored genres such as the digital genre of synchronous videoconferencing instructional slides video ads engineers training log book entries the narrative story genres fundraising letters and retraction notices it demonstrates not only the prominent value of genre research but wide applications of genre knowledge in various educational and professional domains the book brings together experts spreading across the world including countries in south east asia europe america west africa and south america accordingly it will appeal to readers of diversified socio cultural backgrounds working in all the aforementioned inter related fields of applied linguistics and communication studies researchers studied current and projected needs for engineering technicians in the united kingdom the match between training supply and demand and trends in direct recruitment to level 3 engineering training in order to identify models of best practice for promoting the uptake of engineering technician training the following data collection activities were conducted a literature review a review of two national databases and site visits to selected further education fe and training providers and careers services the study established that although the total number of individuals employed in engineering will decrease by about 5 in the next 10 years the demand to replace those leaving the industry for retirement or other reasons will lead to a positive net requirement for all engineering occupations including engineering technicians the data suggested that recruitment through work based apprenticeships and full time fe routes may be insufficient to replace those leaving employment the following were among the 11 principles of good recruitment practice identified 1 ongoing explicit partnership arrangements between schools colleges training providers and industry 2 information and awareness opportunities for all teachers about progression through vocational and work based pathways 3 assistance and support for learners and 4 provision of extracurricular engineering activities to stimulate interest and enjoyment contains 14 references mn on cover annual

The Costs of Training

researchers studied current and projected needs for engineering technicians in the united kingdom the match between training supply and demand and trends in direct recruitment to level 3 engineering training in order to identify models of best practice for promoting the uptake of engineering technician training the following data collection activities were conducted a literature review a review of two national databases and site visits to selected further education fe and training providers and careers services the study established that although the total number of individuals employed in engineering will decrease by about 5 in the next 10 years the demand to replace those leaving the industry for retirement or other reasons will lead to a positive net requirement for all engineering occupations including engineering technicians the data suggested that recruitment through work based apprenticeships and full time fe routes may be insufficient to replace those leaving employment the following were among the 11 principles of good recruitment practice identified 1 ongoing explicit partnership arrangements between schools colleges training providers and industry 2 information and awareness opportunities for all teachers about progression through vocational and work based pathways 3 assistance and support for learners and 4 provision of extracurricular engineering activities to stimulate interest and enjoyment contains 14 references mn
