civil procedure legislative council of india enacted code of civil procedure 1859 which received the assent of governor general on 23 march 1859 the code however not applicable to supreme court in the presidency towns and to the presidency small cause courts but it did not meet the challenges and was replaced by code of civil procedure code 1877 but still it did not fulfill the requirements of time and large amendments were introduced in 1882 it was recast the whole code and it was the code of civil procedure 1882 with passing of time it is felt that the code needs some flexibility to breathe the air of speed and effectiveness so meet these problems code of civil procedure 1908 was enacted though it has been amended number of times it stood the test of time

this book is bare act of indian law on punishments applicable within indian territories it is the hardcore set of rules as exactly provided by indian government authorities indian penal code is the main criminal code of india it is a comprehensive code intended to cover all substantive aspects of criminal law the code was drafted in 1860 on the recommendations of first law commission of india established in 1834 under the charter act of 1833 under the chairmanship of thomas babington macaulay it came into force in british india during the early years period in 1862 however it did not apply automatically in the princely states which had their own courts and legal systems until the 1940s the code has since been amended several times and is now supplemented by other criminal provisions based on ipc jammu and kashmir has enacted a separate code known as ranbir penal code rpc after the departure of the british the indian penal code was inherited by pakistan as well much of which was formerly part of british india and there it is now called the pakistan penal code even after the independence of bangladesh formerly known as east pakistan from pakistan formerly known as west pakistan it continued in force there it the indian penal code was also adopted by the british colonial authorities in burma ceylon now sri lanka the straits settlements now part of malaysia singapore and brunei and remains the basis of the criminal codes in those countries the ranbir penal code applicable in that state of jammu and kashmir of india is also based on this code the draft of the indian penal code was prepared by the first law commission chaired by thomas babington macaulay in 1834 and was submitted to governor general of india council in 1837 its basis is the law of england freed from superfluties technicalities and local peculiarities elements were also derived from the napoleonic code and from edward livingston s louisiana civil code of 1825 the first final draft of the indian penal code was submitted to the governor general of india in council in 1837 but the draft was again revised the drafting was completed in 1850 and the code was presented to the legislative council in 1856 but it did not take its place on the statute book of british india until a generation later following the indian rebellion of 1857 the draft then underwent a very careful revision at the hands of barnes peacock who later became the first chief justice of the calcutta high court and the future puisne judges of the calcutta high court who were members of the legislative council and was passed into law on 6 october 1860 the code came into operation on 1 january 1862 unfortunately macaulay did not survive to see his masterpiece come into force having died near the end of 1859 the objective of this act is to provide a general penal code for india though not an initial objective the act does not repeal the penal laws which were in force at the time of coming into force in india this was so because the code does not contain all the offences and it was possible that some offences might have still been left out of the code which were not intended to be exempted from penal consequences though this code consolidates the whole of the law on the subject and is exhaustive on the matters in respect of which it declares the law many more penal statutes governing various offenses have been created in addition to the code
