Migrant Youth, Transnational Families, and the State

2014-06-16 each year more than half a million migrant children journey from countries around the globe and enter the united states with no lawful immigration status many of them have no parent or legal guardian to provide care and custody yet little is known about their experiences in a nation that may simultaneously shelter children while initiating proceedings to deport them nor about their safety or well being if repatriated migrant youth transnational families and the state examines the draconian immigration policies that detain unaccompanied migrant children and draws on u s historical political legal and institutional practices to contextualize the lives of children and youth as they move through federal detention facilities immigration and family courts federal foster care programs and their communities across the united states and central america through interviews with children and their families attorneys social workers policy makers law enforcement and diplomats anthropologist lauren heidbrink foregrounds the voices of migrant children and youth who must navigate the legal and emotional terrain of u s immigration policy cast as victims by humanitarian organizations and delinquents by law enforcement these unauthorized minors challenge western constructions of child dependence and family structure heidbrink illuminates the enduring effects of immigration enforcement on its young charges their families and the state ultimately questioning whose interests drive decisions about the care and custody of migrant youth

in east asian economies such as china recent mass rural urban migration has created a new urban underclass as have their children however their inclusion in urban public schools is a surprisingly slow process and youth identities in newly industrialized countries remain largely neglected faced with monetary and institutional barriers the majority of migrant youth attend low quality or underperforming migrant schools without access to the free compulsory education enjoyed by their urban counterparts as a result china's citizen building scheme and the sustainability of its labor intensive economy have greatly impacted global economic restructuring using thorough ethnographic research this volume examines the consequences of urban schooling and citizenship education through which school and social processes contribute to the production of unequal class relations it explores the nexus of citizenship education and identity forming practices of poor migrant youth in an attempt to foresee the new class formation in chinese society this volume opens up the black box of citizenship education in china and examines the effect of school and societal forces on social mobility and life trajectories

The Inconvenient Generation 2020-01-07 drawing on ten years of ethnographic data collected from multi sited field research ling's book traces the journeys of dozens of second generation migrants from middle school to the labor market in shanghai and reveals the ongoing process of inclusion and exclusion that shapes the politics of citizenship in urban china

Report of the Committee on Migrant Youth in the Australian Community 1973 this book explores the lives experiences and the formation of higher educational aspirations among marginalised migrant youth in south africa using a case study based in johannesburg the author illuminates their voices in order to demonstrate the reality faced by these young people in the context of migration to the global south within the complex landscape of global and african migration this book draws on detailed narratives to understand the conditions under which aspirations for higher education are or are not developed in doing so the author highlights the value of understanding individual lives experiences and opportunities from a human development point of view capturing the multidimensional disadvantages experienced by migrants in a balanced intersectional manner balancing empirical data with theoretical analysis this volume tells a rich nuanced story about marginalised migrant youth an essential work for understanding the conditions necessary for such youth to live valuable lives in both local and international contexts this book will appeal to students and scholars of youth migration aspiration and educational opportunities particularly within the global south
